This will confirm that at its March 11, 2015 meeting the Temple Planning Board approved your Site Plan Review application for a change of use on land identified as Temple Tax Map 9A Lots 2, 4 and 5 and Map 1A Lot 3. The approved use is as a monastic residential community and a place for communal practices for monks, novices and visiting lay people. It is understood that the only new building construction under this approval will be a series of kutis or huts in remote locations on the property, and paths connecting them. Before any additional buildings or additions larger than 1,000 square feet in floor area, or significant alterations of terrain, may be built on the property, the applicants must again apply to the Planning Board for Site Plan Review. It is also understood that as part of this approval, no part of the property will be rented for residential purposes.

The approved application and related paperwork are on file at the Temple town offices.
